CLB 5 – Canada at War

There is no compulsory military service in Canada. However, serving in the regular Canadian Forces (navy, army and air force) is a noble way to contribute to Canada and can be an excellent career choice. You can gain valuable experience, skills and contacts and maybe even defend Canada. Young people can learn discipline, responsibility, and skills by getting involved in the cadets.

You may also serve in the Coast Guard or emergency services in your community such as a police force or fire department. By helping to protect your community, you follow in the footsteps of Canadians before you who made sacrifices in the service of our country.
