BC's Economy

The Port of Vancouver - imports

The Port of Vancouver - exports

BC is on Canada's west coast with a population of more than 4.5 million people. The Port of Vancouver is the largest port in Canada. It imports and exports billions of dollars in goods. These goods are traded around the world. Vancouver is on the Pacific Coast and so it is easy to trade with Asia and other Pacific countries. Imports usually come in big containers. Inside the containers are food and goods like computers, clothing and small parts. Exports usually leave in bulk ships. Oil, wheat, wood and minerals are common exports.
